SERVING FREDERICKSBURG, STAFFORD, SPOTSYLVANIA, AND WESTMORELAND

Welcome

from the Executive Director

I love walking into a library branch and seeing the bustle of activity! In the children's section, toddlers are excitedly talking about the bear book that they are checking out (again!), while an adult is reserving the privacy pod for an online job interview, a quiet space away from a neighbor's barking dog.

Rebecca Purdy

In one meeting room, new connections form during a robust card game; in another, a group is learning how a local author got published. Later, teens will arrive to do homework, play computer games, or work on their Teen Stop Motion Video Contest entries. Meanwhile, customers of all ages are building trebuchets for an annual contest that combines engineering and fun!

Library branches are constant hubs of activity, and one never knows what discoveries await when you walk through the doors. Maybe you came to check out one of the library's 1.6 million books, movies, and audiobooks, use a computer, or to connect to the library's wifi--but stay a moment longer, and I guarantee you'll find something unexpected. If you need help finding something new, ask us! Tell us a little about your interests, and we'll have ideas on something new at the public library just for you!
